Dept: Courtroom 3

Honorable Roger T. Benitez

Complaint Filed: January 28, 2008

I
INTRODUCTION AND SUMMARY OF ARGUMENT

Defendant Taylor's Industrial Services, LLC ("Taylor's") is a non-California company with insufficient contacts in California for this Court to exercise personal jurisdiction over it. Plaintiffs—the Hong Kong company Welltec Machinery Limited ("Welltec Hong Kong") and its United States assignee, Welltec Machinery USA, Inc ("Welltec U.S.A.")—do not allege any forum related activities by Taylor's and their Complaint provides no basis for why the case was filed in this district.<sup>1</sup> Accordingly, the Court should dismiss Plaintiffs' claims against Taylor's for lack of personal jurisdiction (Fed. R. Civ. Proc. 12(b)(2)), and improper venue (Fed. R. Civ. Proc. 12(b)(3)). Additionally, each of the alleged claims in the Complaint arises from an agreement wherein parties agreed in writing to arbitrate all disputes arising out of that agreement. Plaintiffs' contractual obligation is clear and explicit:

Any dispute or claim arising out of this agreement shall be referred to and finally resolved by the International Chamber of Commerce in accordance with its Conciliation and Arbitration Rules. The venue of such arbitration shall be in Hong Kong.

(See "Sole Distributorship Agreement" ¶ 20 attached as Exhibit 1 to Declaration of Chris Filos filed concurrently in support this motion.)

If the Court chooses not to dismiss this case, it should transfer the case to the Southern District of Ohio, where defendant resides – the proper venue in this case. Finally, if the Court elects to neither dismiss nor transfer the case, it should stay the matter, allowing the parties to arbitrate.

II
SUMMARY OF RELEVANT FACTS

A. Plaintiffs' Allegations Against Taylor's.

On January, 28, 2008 Plaintiffs filed this action against Taylor's alleging various contract and fraud causes of action arising out of a Sole Distributorship Agreement

<sup>1</sup> Plaintiffs initially filed the Complaint in San Diego Superior Court. Taylor's filed a notice removing the action to this Court on May 16, 2008.

1 (“Agreement”) signed by Taylor’s and Welltec Hong Kong. According to the Complaint,
 2 Welltec Hong Kong subsequently assigned its rights and interests in the Agreement to
 3 Welltec U.S.A. Complaint ¶ 1. (Unless noted otherwise, this motion will refer to Welltec
 4 Hong Kong and Welltec U.S.A. collectively as “Welltec” or “Plaintiffs.”) The parties
 5 contracted for Taylor’s to be Welltec’s exclusive distributor of its mold injection machines.
 6 Taylor’s exclusive territory for the sale of these machines was limited to Canada. See 7 Agreement ¶ 1; Complaint ¶ 9.

8 B. Taylor’s’ Lack of Minimum Contacts With California.

9 Taylor’s does as much business in California as it does in Kazakhstan – none.
 10 Taylor’s is organized under the laws of Illinois with its principal place of business and 11 headquarters in Mt. Gilead, Ohio. Declaration of Chris Filos (“Filos Decl.”), ¶ 2. Taylor’s
 12 has never conducted business in California and is not qualified, or required to be qualified, 13 to do business in California. Filos Decl., ¶ 3. Taylor’s does not and never has owned or 14 operated any retail stores in California; has not maintained bank accounts, offices, or 15 employees in the State of California; and has not advertised in the state. Filos Decl., ¶ 4.
 16 Nor does Taylor’s have any customers in this state. Id. Taylor’s does not own, use, or 17 possesses any real property in California and has not designated an agent for service of 18 process in California. Id. Finally, Taylor’s does not hold any type of license issued in 19 California. Id.

20 The Agreement forming the basis of Plaintiffs’ complaint was negotiated and 21 executed by Taylor’s president, Chris Filos in Ohio. Filos Decl., ¶ 6. At the time of 22 signing, Mr. Filos was informed that Welltec Hong Kong executed the Agreement in Hong 23 Kong. Id. Taylor’s performed all of its obligations under the Agreement outside of 24 California. Id.

25 The machines that Taylor’s purchased from Welltec pursuant to the Agreement were 26 either delivered F.O.B. to Ohio, or Taylor’s arranged to have the machines picked up from 27 Welltec’s facility in Hong Kong. Filos Decl., ¶ 7. Taylor’s has never taken delivery of any 28 machine, or any other goods or products pursuant to the Agreement, in California. Id.

1 The Complaint alleges that two shipments of goods were “delivered” in Long Beach,
 2 California. Complaint ¶¶ 17, 19. To be clear—these shipments were not delivered to
 3 Taylor’s in California. Rather, the shipments arrived and passed through the port of entry
 4 at Long Beach, California, en-route to their delivery destination in Ohio. The Long Beach
 5 port of entry was not selected by Taylor’s. Id. All of the machines that Taylor’s has 6 purchased from Welltec have been sold exclusively to customers in Canada, not California,
 7 as contemplated by the terms of the Agreement. Id.

8 Taylor’s has not consented, and does not consent, to the exercise of jurisdiction
 9 over it in California.

10 C. Parties’ Contractual Obligation to Arbitrate.

11 The Complaint alleges various contract and fraud causes of action, all arising out of 12 the written Agreement between Welltec and Taylor’s. The Agreement contains the 13 following arbitration provision:

14 Any dispute or claim arising out of this agreement shall be referred to and finally 15 resolved by the International Chamber of Commerce in accordance with its 16 Conciliation and Arbitration Rules. The venue of such arbitration shall be in Hong 17 Kong.

18 The Agreement further provides that:

19 No amendment or variation of this agreement shall be effective to bind the parties
 20 hereto unless such amendment or variation shall have been put in writing and duly 21 signed on behalf of both parties hereto.

22 Plaintiffs have apparently chosen selective enforcement of the Agreement, by 23 initiating this action in court on contravention of the arbitration provision.

24 III 25 DUE PROCESS PRECLUDES THIS COURT FROM EXERCISING PERSONAL JURISDICTION 26 OVER TAYLOR’S

27 A. Personal Jurisdiction Is A Matter of Constitutional Due Process.

28 Before the Court can exercise personal jurisdiction, two requirements must be met:
 (1) the forum state’s long arm statute must authorize personal jurisdiction over the defendant, and (2) exercise of that jurisdiction must comport with constitutional principles

1 of due process. Omeluk v. Langsten Slip & Batbyggeri A/S 52 F.3d 267, 269 (9th Cir. 1995)
 2 (Omeluk).

3 California's long-arm statute authorizes "jurisdiction on any basis not inconsistent
 4 with the Constitution of this state or of the United States." Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 410.10.
 5 Thus, the issue before this Court is whether the exercise of personal jurisdiction over
 6 Taylor's comports with the Due Process Clause of the United States Constitution. Omeluk,
 7 52 F.3d at 269 (where state long-arm statute reaches as far as the Due Process Clause, the 8 Court must analyze whether the exercise of jurisdiction would comply with due process).

9 In the case of a nonresident defendant, like Taylor's here, the "general rule" is that 10 the Court may extend jurisdiction only where the defendant's "minimum contacts" in the 11 forum state (California) are sufficient such that maintenance of the action does not offend
 12 "traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice." International Shoe Co. v.
 13 Washington 326 U.S. 310, 316 (1945) (International Shoe).

14 B. Plaintiffs Bear The Burden Of Proof.

15 Although Taylor's is the moving party, Plaintiffs bears the burden of proof. VCS
 16 Samoa Parking Co. v. Blue Continent Prods. (PTY) Ltd. 83 F.Supp.2d 1151 (S.D.Cal. 1998),
 17 aff'd 202 F.3d 280 (9th Cir. 1999) (the party asserting jurisdiction carries the burden of proof 18 once the issue is raised).

19 Plaintiffs' unverified Complaint does not adequately plead minimum contacts by 20 Taylor's in California. The Complaint reveals that the reason Plaintiffs have chosen to bring 21 the action in this district is Plaintiffs' own convenience: Welltec U.S.A., the purported
 22 assignee of the Agreement, is "a California Corporation with offices in San Diego, California"
 23 and "actively engaged in the business of manufacturing and selling heavy plastic injection
 24 molding machinery for sale to U.S. and California based customers." Complaint ¶ 1. Yet
 25 Plaintiffs' Complaint sets forth absolutely no facts to show that Taylor's dealt with anyone 26 other than Welltec Hong Kong, as the Agreement itself establishes.

27 ///

28 ///

1 C. Taylor's Does Not Have Minimum Contacts In California Sufficient To Exercise
 2 Personal Jurisdiction Over It In This Case.

3 "There are two types of personal jurisdiction: general and specific." Ziegler v. Indian
 4 River County, 64 F.3d 470, 473 (9th Cir. 1995) (Ziegler), citing Reebok Int'l Ltd. v.
 5 McLaughlin, 49 F.3d 1387, 1391 (9th Cir. 1995). Plaintiffs cannot meet its burden of proof 6 on either basis.

7 1. The Facts Do Not Support General Jurisdiction Over Taylor's.

8 For general jurisdiction to result, the defendant's contacts in the forum state must be 9 "'substantial" or "continuous and systematic.'" Helicopteros Nacionales de Columbia v.
 10 Hall 466 U.S. 408, 414-416, (1984) (Helicopteros); Perkins v. Benguet Consol. Mining Co.
 11 342 U.S. 437, (1952) (Perkins); Ziegler, 64 F.3d at 473.

12 "The standard for establishing general jurisdiction is 'fairly high'" (Bancroft & Masters, 13 Inc. v. Augusta National, Inc. 223 F.3d 1082, 1086 (9th Cir. 2000) (Bancroft)), and the 14 United States Supreme Court has upheld general jurisdiction only once. See Amoco Egypt
 15 Oil Co. v. Leonis Navigation Co., Inc. 1 F.3d 848, 851, n.3 (9th Cir. 1993) (Amoco) (pointing 16 out that the Supreme Court has upheld general jurisdiction only in the case of Perkins v.
 17 Benguet Consol. Mining Co., supra). Indeed, the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals 18 acknowledges: "[w]e . . . regularly have declined to find general jurisdiction even where the 19 contacts were quite extensive." Amoco, 1 F.3d at 851, n.3.

20 "Factors to be taken into consideration" when evaluating whether general jurisdiction
 21 lies are: whether Taylor's makes sales, solicits or engages in business in California, serves 22 California's markets, designates an agent for service of process, holds a license, or is 23 incorporated in California. Bancroft, 223 F.3d at 1086, citing Hirsch v. Blue Cross, Blue
 24 Shield of Kansas City 800 F.2d 1474, 1478 (9th Cir. 1986). The Court should also consider 25 whether a company is registered to do business in California, maintains an office in 26 California, has employees in California, maintains bank accounts in California, or markets or 27 sells products in California. Bancroft, 223 F.3d at 1086; Figi Graphics, Inc. v. Dollar
 28 General Corporation 33 F. Supp. 2d 1263, 1265 (S.D.Cal. 1998) (Figi), citing Helicopteros,

1 466 U.S. at 415 and Perkins, 342 U.S. 437.

2 The answer to every one of these questions vis-a-vis Taylor's is "no." Taylor's is not
 3 incorporated or registered to do business in California; does not have offices, bank accounts,
 4 or employees in California; and does not advertise in California. Filos Decl., ¶¶ 3,4. In 5 these circumstances, the Figi Court held that insufficient contacts existed to exercise general
 6 jurisdiction. Figi, 33 F.Supp.2d at 1265-1266 (defendant who was not incorporated in 7 California, did not maintain an office in California, did not conduct any significant corporate
 8 activity in California, and did not make an effort to market or sell its products in California 9 did not have "substantial" enough contacts for general jurisdiction).

10 The Bancroft case involved circumstances similar to those in Figi (defendant was not 11 registered or licensed to do business in California, paid no taxes in California, and 12 maintained no bank accounts in California) and the additional fact that defendants, like 13 Taylor's here, did not target any print, television, or radio advertising toward California.
 14 Bancroft, 223 F.3d at 1086.

15 Simply because Taylor's has a website that is accessible by anyone in California is 16 insufficient to confer jurisdiction over it. In Bancroft, although the defendant did maintain a 17 website accessible by residents of California, because the website was passive – like
 18 Taylor's<sup>2</sup> - and consumers could not use it to make purchases, insufficient contacts existed
 19 to create general jurisdiction. Id.

20 Because Plaintiffs cannot show substantial or continuous and systematic contacts in 21 California by Taylor's, general personal jurisdiction cannot attach.

22 2. The Facts Do Not Support Specific Jurisdiction Over Taylor's.

23 Where the defendant does not have continuous and systematic contacts with the state
 24 sufficient to subject it to general jurisdiction, the Ninth Circuit applies a three-part test to 25 determine whether specific jurisdiction exists, that is, whether the defendant nevertheless 26 has "minimum contacts" with the forum sufficient for purposes of a cause of action related to 27 _____

 28 <sup>2</sup> Taylor's website is: <http://www.taylorsind.com/2003/hpm/home/about/about.php>

1 or arising out of those contacts. Core-Vent Corp. v. Nobel Industries AB 11 F.3d 1482, 1485
 2 (9th Cir. 1993) (Core-Vent); AT&T, 94 F.3d at 588. Applying that test here, the Court may 3 subject Taylor's to specific jurisdiction only if it finds:

- 4 (1) Taylor's has purposefully availed itself of the privilege of conducting 5 activities in California, thereby invoking the benefits and protections of 6 its laws;
- 7 (2) Plaintiffs' claims arise out of or result from Taylor's' California-related 8 activities; and
- 9 (3) the assertion of jurisdiction would be reasonable, i.e., would comport
 10 with fair play and substantial justice.

11 Panavision Intern., L.P. v. Toeppen 141 F.3d 1316, 1320 (9th Cir. 1998). As the frequency of 12 contacts and their relationship with the cause of action diminishes, the case for establishing 13 jurisdiction over a defendant weakens. International Shoe, 326 U.S. at 317-319.

14 Additionally, where Plaintiffs, as they do here, assert multiple causes of action, the 15 Court must have personal jurisdiction over the defendant with respect to each claim. Data
 16 Disc., Inc. v. Sys. Technology Assoc., Inc. 557 F.2d 1280, 1289, n.8 (9th Cir. 1977).

17 The facts do not establish purposeful availment by Taylor's in California, and 18 Plaintiffs' claims do not arise out of any California-related activities, because Taylor's did not 19 engage in any activities in California. All of the negotiations and communications to reach 20 the Agreement, and performance conducted by Taylor's pursuant to the Agreement were 21 conducted exclusively outside of California. Filos Decl., ¶ 6. As Plaintiffs readily admit, the 22 machines at issue were intended for Canadian, not Californian customers. Complaint ¶ 9.

23 With respect to Plaintiffs' tort causes of action, the Court may find purposeful 24 availment only if there is: "(1) an intentional action; (2) expressly aimed at the forum state;
 25 (3) causing harm, the brunt of which is suffered—and which the defendant knows is likely to 26 be suffered—in the forum state." Core-Vent, 11 F.3d at 1485-6; Figi, 33 F.Supp.2d at 1267.

27 Here, Plaintiffs do not allege any specific activity by Taylor's in California, let alone
 28 one that was "intentionally" and "expressly aimed" at this state.

1 In Bancroft, supra, the court found purposeful availment for purposes of a tort claim
 2 under circumstances utterly absent here. There, defendant ANI directed a “cease and desist”
 3 letter to Bancroft & Masters, a business operating almost exclusively in California. In the 4 letter, ANI asserted that B&M’s internet domain name infringed on Plaintiffs’ trademarks, and
 5 demanded that B&M turn over the domain name to Plaintiffs. Bancroft, 223 F.3d at 1084-
 6 1085. ANI’s action directed at California triggered B&M to act in California; specifically, the 7 letter triggered the dispute resolution provisions of the domain registrar, thereby compelling
 8 B&M to act which it did by filing a declaratory relief action in California. Id. at 1087. The 9 court described ANI’s action as “express aiming” and “individualized targeting.” Id. at 1087-
 10 1088. Here, by sharp contrast, Plaintiffs does not allege any specific activity by Taylor’s in 11 California.

12 IV 13 THE COURT SHOULD DISMISS THIS CASE BECAUSE OF THE ARBITRATION CLAUSE IN 14 THE UNDERLYING AGREEMENT

14 Because the Agreement involves interstate commerce, indeed, international 15 commerce, the Federal Arbitration Act (“FAA”) applies. See Allied-Bruce Terminix Cos. v.
 16 Dobson, 513 U.S. 265, 273, 115 S. Ct. 834, 130 L. Ed. 2d 753 (1995). “Under the FAA, 17 written arbitration contracts...are enforceable as a matter of federal law unless one or more 18 of the claims at issue are non-arbitrable pursuant to federal standards.” Stuart v. Household
 19 Retail Servs., Inc., 2000 U.S. Dist. Lexis 22509, 8 (C.D. Cal. 2000) (citing Moses H. Cone 20 Mem. Hosp. v. Mercury Constr., 460 U.S. 1, 24-35 (1983)).

21 The parties’ Agreement requires arbitration of all disputes. Therefore, this case does 22 not belong in court, and should be dismissed. “An agreement to arbitrate before a specified
 23 tribunal is, in effect, a specialized kind of forum-selection clause that posits not only the situs
 24 of suit but also the procedure to be used in resolving the dispute.” Scherk v. Alberto-Culver
 25 Co., 417 U.S. 506, 519, 94 S. Ct. 2449, 41 L. Ed. 2d 270 (1974). A contractual forum 26 selection clause is prima facie valid and should be enforced unless unreasonable under the 27 circumstances. M/S Bremen v. Zapata Off-Shore Co., 407 U.S. 1, 10, 92 S. Ct. 1907, 32 L.
 28 Ed. 2d 513 (1972), over’d in part by 28 U.S.C. 1404(a) as recognized in Stewart

1 Organization, Inc. v. Ricoh Corp., 487 U.S. 22, 29, 108 S. Ct. 2239, 101 L. Ed. 2d 22
 2 (1988); see also Smith, Valentino & Smith, Inc. v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County, 17
 3 Cal.3d 491, 495 (1976) (“we are in accord with the modern trend which favors
 4 enforceability of such forum selection clauses”) (citing Bremen, 407 U.S. 1). When the 5 “choice of [ ] forum was made in an arm’s-length negotiation by experienced and 6 sophisticated businessmen, and absent some compelling and countervailing reason, it
 7 should be honored by the parties and enforced by the courts.” Bremen, 407 U.S. at 12; see 8 also Smith, 17 Cal.3d. at 495-6.

9 “The Supreme Court has not spoken to the issue of which rule governs dismissal on 10 the grounds of a forum selection clause.” Brown v. Lloyd's, 219 B.R. 725, 729 (Bankr. D.
 11 Tex. 1997). The Tenth Circuit notes that a “motion to dismiss based on a forum selection
 12 clause frequently is analyzed as a motion to dismiss for improper venue under Fed. R.
 13 Civ. P. 12(b)(3).” Riley v. Kingsley Underwriting Agencies, Ltd., 969 F.2d 953, 956 (10th
 14 Cir. 1992) (citing Spradlin v. Lear Siegler Mgmt. Servs., 926 F.2d 865, 866 (9th Cir. 1991)
 15 and others). But “[l]ittle consistency exists today between the Courts of Appeal.” Brown v.
 16 Lloyd's, 219 B.R. at 729 (citations omitted); see also Silva v. Encyclopedia Britannica, Inc., 17 239 F.3d 385, 388 n3 (1st Cir. 2001) (noting variegated views among circuits).

18 Regardless of the procedural Rule that this Court applies, all require dismissing this 19 case based on the arbitration provision.

20 V
 21 THIS COURT SHOULD DISMISS THIS CASE FOR IMPROPER VENUE

22 Federal law provides that civil actions may be brought only in a judicial district: 1) 23 where any defendant resides; 2) a substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to 24 the claim occurred; or 3) where any defendant may be found if there is no district in which 25 the action may other wise be brought. 28 U.S.C. 1391(b). For purposes of venue, a 26 corporate defendant shall be deemed to reside in any judicial district where it is subject to 27 personal jurisdiction at the time the action is commenced. 28 U.S.C. 1391(c).

28 First, Taylor’s is not a resident of this district, or any other district in California. It is

1 headquartered in and has always maintained its principal place of business in Ohio. Filos
 2 Decl., ¶ 2. As discussed in section II B above, Taylor's did not engage in any activity within 3 California that would subject it to personal jurisdiction in this district at the time of the filing
 4 of the Complaint (or for that matter at any time prior to the filing of the Complaint).

5 Second, none of the "events or omission" leading to Plaintiffs' claims arose in 6 California. To the contrary, the Agreement was negotiated and signed by Taylor's in Ohio
 7 and Welltec delivered the majority of the machines at issue to Taylor's in Ohio. Filos Decl., 8 ¶¶ 6, 7. Taylor's issued payment for those machines from its bank in Ohio. The Southern 9 District of California is simply not the proper venue for this action because it has absolutely 10 no connection to this case whatsoever.

11 "The district court of a district in which is filed a case laying venue in the wrong 12 division or district shall dismiss, or if it be in the interest of justice, transfer such case to any 13 district or division in which it could have been brought." 28 U.S.C § 1406. This case 14 "could have been brought" in the Southern District of Ohio, where defendant resides and is 15 subject to personal jurisdiction.

16 VI 17 IN THE ALTERNATIVE, THE COURT SHOULD STAY THIS ACTION PENDING 18 ARBITRATION

18 If the Court declines to dismiss or transfer this case, it should at a minimum stay the 19 action to permit the parties to arbitrate in accordance with their Agreement. "The Federal 20 Arbitration Act requires a court to stay an action whenever the parties to the action have 21 agreed in writing to submit their claims to arbitration:

22 If any suit or proceeding be brought in any of the courts of the 23 United States upon any issue referable to arbitration under an 24 agreement in writing for such arbitration, the court in which 25 such suit is pending, upon being satisfied that the issue involved 26 in such suit or proceeding is referable to arbitration under such an agreement, shall on application of one of the parties stay the trial of the action until such arbitration has been had in accordance with the terms of the agreement..."

27 Wagner v. Stratton Oakmont, Inc., 83 F.3d 1046, 1048 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting 9 U.S.C.
 28 § 3, emphasis added).

1 Applying the above authorities, the Court should dismiss this case in its entirety. To 2 allow the case to sit on the court's docket would be a waste of judicial time and resources.
3 At a bare minimum, the Court should stay all proceedings in this case in order to preserve
4 judicial economy and avoid unnecessary expenditures of time and money for the parties.

5 VII
6 CONCLUSION

7 Because Taylor's lacks the constitutionally required "minimum contacts" in 8 California, this Court cannot exercise personal jurisdiction over it. To do so would 9 constitute a denial of due process. Moreover, forcing Taylor's to litigate in this district
10 would contravene the principles of proper venue. Taylor's therefore respectfully requests
11 that the Court dismiss Plaintiffs' claims pursuant to Rule 12(b)(2) or (3) of the Federal Rules
12 of Civil Procedure, and because parties have agreed to arbitrate the claims giving rise to this 13 case. In the alternative, Taylor's requests that the Court transfer the matter to the Southern 14 District of Ohio, where it should have been brought in the first instance. If the Court does 15 not dismiss or transfer the case, Taylor's requests that the Court at least stay all further 16 proceedings in order to permit the parties to arbitrate.
